

Trisha Yearwood

"They Call It Falling For A Reason"

Visit "They Call It Falling For A Reason" on MotoLyrics.com

He had me spinning like a girl in the circus in a trapeze act

Tell me what are you supposed to do

When you've been kissed like that

I don't think I've ever been so high

Is it any wonder I felt like I could fly

It's a tumblin' rush, it's a helpless kind of feeling

When your heart doesn't know which way is up or down

Till you hit the ground hard and fast, bruised and

barely breathin'

I guess they call it falling for a reason

I was death defying, yeah, flying with the greatest of ease

There was nothing out there but the wind and the air and me

It's a long way down I don't know how I survived

It's a hell of a way to feel like you're alive

It's a tumblin' rush, it's a helpless kind of feeling

When your heart doesn't know which way is up or down

Till you hit the ground hard and fast, bruised and

barely breathin'

I guess they call it falling for a reason

Falling

I don't think I've ever been so high

Is it any wonder I felt like I could fly

It's a tumblin' rush, it's a helpless kind of feeling

When your heart doesn't know which way is up or down

Till you hit the ground hard and fast, bruised and

barely breathin'

I guess they call it falling for a reason

They call it falling for a reason

Falling

Falling

