

Lindsay Fuller

"Everything I Ever Had"

Visit "Everything I Ever Had" on MotoLyrics.com

Lost my mind when I met you
Spent a night just feeling sick
In a blanket on the floor, wishing I'd die Die before I gave you everything I ever had

You'd no idea the spell you spoke
When you would greet me every morn
I'd chew my lips to bloody pulp so lost for words,
The kind of words that make a one like you come back for more

All bets were off when I met you,
My junkie heart was shot right through
Cupid bought a shotgun

If I step off this stage I'll hang
If I stay on it I will burn
Some folks can't help but build a bomb or leave a wake
A wake of all the poison you've been pumping through my veins

I'm gonna love you till I die
Which might be sooner than you think
I'll follow you to somewhere steep and be so sure That the wings you've given me are strong enough for me to fly

All bets were off when I met you,
My junkie heart was shot right through
Cupid bought a shotgun
All bets were off when I met you,
My junkie heart was shot right through
Cupid bought a shotgun

Visit Lindsay Fuller page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.