

Lindsay Fuller

"Libby"

Visit "Libby" on MotoLyrics.com

Oh, Libby, you take my breath away
Lure me to my grave
But our history remains

I courted you into a world where no man sees
Bore the weight of your mineral dowry
Oh, Libby, you took my breath away

I found Orpheus weeping at the mouth of your cave
Dragging long heavy hits off an O2 tank
Oh, Libby, you promised you'd be true

Your depths held a horrible secret, dear,
And the sound of your scream became so severe
Oh, Libby I'm sorry I ever knew you

Tried to harvest the bounty of your underworld
You punished me the deeper our love unfurled
Oh, Libby, if only I had known

Fingertips are swelling now my speech is slurred
Going down babe without a single word
Of justice, for the way you starved my blood
Your exasperating love
As I drown in my own flood
Oh, Libby, you take my breath away

Oh, Libby, you take my breath away [x5]

Visit Lindsay Fuller page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.