in my hands again
i've placed control and worry hid beneath my skin now this feeling's overwhelming peace is lost again it seems when i try to shut you out a stumbling block is in the way and fear serves to overwhelm me taking trust away

these wounds and scars are mine and i'm to blame save me from myself somehow free my heart out of this cell take my sin and guilt and condemnation now remember them no more....

you give me love forgiveness I do not deserve now your love overtakes me so that I can turn my heart to you and walk from the life I thought would help to make me free now you bring light to the darkness so that I can see

take it all back!
