She was a brown eyed girl.
She had, blonde, long beautiful hair.
And her laugh was so mild.
Something in her voice was lighted.
She had a voice so clear.
Anna was just a heartbeat away.
Singing her song for me.

Chorus:
Anna was a sweet romance.
Living in my town.
We were best friends all our days.
Nothing could separate us.
But now she's dead and I will cry.
Until she comes back.

She had an uplighted wisdom.
She was sweet-romanced girl.
Sitting by the service station looking.
With a little bit of love.
She had a reason to tell us.
Why she did this to us.
And I'm singing this song.

Chorus.

I was humbled by Anna's grace.
And I'm shining by her window.
I believe it's a chance for us.
Now.....

Chorus
