Politicians talk of freedom, they talk in this country that we live in

They talk, free to be harassed and be beaten by the pigs

Your rights, no rights till you're fucking broken, crippled

Or until you're fucking dead

They pass laws unfair to gays

Their work and separatist laws to keep the non-whites in their place

Their work, family values as a smoke screen blowing in your face

Their truth, no truth, family values isn't something That shouldn't be based on hate

Justice presides over them, late into the night

A blindfold covering their eyes but something isn't right

Under their arms, there are shackles on her legs

And the hands that once held up her scales

Are bound, are bound in chains

And behind their closed doors, they conspire through the night

More work, sick work, and they won't stop

Until this nation is all straight and all white

They call it a free nation but all it is, is a Nazi nation
