One billion workers stand up from their chairs
Their faces no longer struck with their fears
Attack! Attack! Stabbed in the back
Disgraced! Disgraced!
Traitors trade face to face
Revolution, the engine of history

When all the lights go out
When all the world is in doubt
When all the goods cease to move
I won't be alone
When all the swords become plows
When all the fields are afoul
When all the cogs cease to turn
I won't be alone

Punching the clock, stabbing the boss
We don't need the CEOs; they need us!
Attack! Attack! Outsourced for a hack
Disgraced! Disgraced! Displace and replace
Proletarians of the world unite
You have nothing to lose but your chains

When all the lights go out
When all the world is in doubt
When all the goods cease to move
I won't be alone
When all the swords become plows
When all the fields are afoul
When all the cogs cease to turn
I won't be alone

We are not numbers, we are names
We won't be alone
We are not crime reports, we are history
We won't be alone
No, we are not folklore, we are culture
We won't be alone
We are not human resources, we are human beings
I won't be a, I won't be a
We won't be alone
When all the lights go out, when all the lights go out

When all the lights go out
When all the world is in doubt
When all the goods cease to move
I won't be alone
When all the swords become plows
When all the fields are afoul
When all the cogs cease to turn
I won't be a, I won't be a
We won't be alone
