I want you to sing me to sleep,
And hold me where the nightmares cannot find me.
Ever since the day you walked into my life,
The pain has ceased,
I feel like I can breathe again.

You give me feelings that I can't explain,
And though it feels too far too fast I can't complain.
But it's taking everything in me to refrain.
When I hear your name,
I fall again.

These butterflies are fluttering,
And threatening to break free,
If I can't keep them caged inside.
These stolen glances, doorstep kisses,
I don't think I've ever felt like this,
I don't know what it is.
Please don't stop me,
From falling.
It's not love-
But it could be.

I want to forget about the things,
That make me so afraid to give my heart again.
And you provide the safety that I need,
When I'm in your arms I can conquer anything.

You give me feelings that I can't explain,
And though it feels too far too fast I can't complain.
But it's taking everything in me to refrain.
When I hear your name,
I fall again.

These butterflies are fluttering,
And threatening to break free,
If I can't keep them caged inside.
These stolen glances, doorstep kisses,
I don't think I've ever felt like this,
I don't know what it is.
Please don't stop me,

From falling.
It's not love-
But it could be.

In your eyes,
Are the answers I've been praying to find.
You're one of a kind,
I'd be lucky to call you mine,
But I'll wait,
Until the day.

These butterflies are fluttering,
And definitely breaking free,
'Cause I can't keep them caged inside.
These stolen glances, doorstep kisses,
I know I have never felt like this,
And now I'm sure of it.
Do not stop me,
I am falling.
Yeah, it's love-
The way it should be.
