

Mode Depeche

"Two Minute Warning 410"

Visit "Two Minute Warning 410" on MotoLyrics.com

We're lying by the orange sky
Two million miles across the land
Scattered to the highest high
Expect they'll either laugh or cry
No sex, no consequence, no sympathy
You're good enough to eat

Two minute warning
Two minutes later
When time has come
My days are numbered

The dawning of another year
It's time for those who understand
One in four still here
While you and I go hand in hand
No radio, no sound, no sin, no sanctuary
So welcome to your last

Two minute warning
Two minutes later
When time has come
My days are numbered
Two minute warning

The sun, the solitude, the symmetry
So welcome to your last

Two minute warning
Two minutes later
When time has come
My days are numbered

Visit Mode Depeche page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.