Take a razor to your hair
Burn the dress you hate to wear
You don't have to cry no more
You don't have to hide no more

Do you dream in colour?
Do you believe in others?

There's a devil in your mouth
But an angel in your heart
All the things that you have said
They have torn this world apart

Ink a needle in your skin
Let the world know where you've been
You don't have to cry no more
You don't have to lie no more

Do you dream in colour?
Do you believe in lovers?

There's a devil in your mouth
But an angel in your heart
All the things that you have said
They have torn this world apart

There's a devil in your mouth
But an angel in your heart
All the things that you have said
They have torn me apart

There's a devil in your
There's a devil in your
There's an angel in your
There's an angel in your

There's a devil in your mouth
But an angel in your heart
All the things that you have said
They have torn this world apart

There's a devil in your mouth
But an angel in your heart
All the things that you have said
They have torn my world apart
