Think about a little boy
Born on Christmas Day
There's a party going on
But he feels so out of place
Cause every one is having fun
And playing with their games
There're presents for these other kids
But none that bare his name

That's how Jesus feels at Christmas
Sometimes he gets left out
Not every one remembers what the season's all about
So when you're out their buying gifts
Imagine what he might say
And how would Jesus feel if he came to your house
Christmas Day

He feels so lonely
Rejected and torn
He thinks, why was I forgotten
On the day that I was born
Well there's, nothing wrong with Santa Claus
And lights and mistletoe
But don't forget the baby boy
That was born so long ago

How will Jesus feel this Christmas
Will he be left out
Will every one remember what the season's all about
So when you're out there buying gifts
Imagine what he might say
And how would Jesus feel if he came to your house
Christmas day
And how would Jesus feel if he came to your house
Christmas Day
