I feel it suffocating from the last time before but I can't see his face reaching forward as I rise off the floor cause I'm lost in this place I can feel it surround me
It's breaking the skin
I'm letting it in now I can feel
it surround me
it's all that I see
the reflection is me
falling faster than the first time before as I look at you now losing focus on my out the door cuase I can't make you out

it's breaking the skin
I'm letting it in now I can feel
it's always right here it follows me still the faceless looking back at me the darkest views come focusing through to see looking back at me looking at me
