Well I think, about things
in fragments, with pictures
I get worried, I get happy
I get nervous, and then I get tired when I think (I know everything) but when I speak (I don't say very much) Feel like I know nothin'
well, who's there (who's knockin') to talk to?
well, who's there (who's ringin')
when I call?
You're my best friend
you're my worst enemy
you're always at my mercy
to do what I want to do

well that's good (do you think so?)
well that's bad (light another cigarette)
feel like I know nothin'
feel like I know nothin'

caught in the crossfire between right and wrong
living the good life

but can you tell me how long this is all gonna go on taking for granted, the time, the love and the passion I'm handed
it's a cool frustration
if you use a bit of your imagination it's a self relation, it's a love that I'm chasing now ain't that something

So I live and I learn
and I take the best and the worst of times find the humor, ignore the pain find the crazy, a md baby ignore the sane Hey I'm here (make your mark now)
Hey I'm gone (some will cry and some won't care)
well that's good (do you think so?)
no, that's bad (light another cigarette)

feel like I know nothin'
