The days are filled with laughter and pain
Since he has gone without good-bye
Like a candle fighting against the wind
She hopes he will come back again

Love will come again
Don't dream it's over now
Love will come again
When it's real...(oh yeah)...

She counts the tears, a million tears
She can't forget the words he said
Sees the time when they're more than friends
It's hard to remember better times

Love will come again
Don't dream it's over now
Love will come again
When it's real...(oh yeah)...

He picks roses, a million roses
He knows it's hard to say sorry again
Listen to his heart crying for love
"Take her hand and kiss her softly..."

Love will come again
Don't dream it's over now
Love will come again
When it's real...(oh yeah)...
