the price to be by his side i know I have to try to be my best because that is all he ever wants i know there's something more when i feel it my tears fall that is when i'm at my best nothing more nothing less you seem like you already know seem like you already know i feel like you've been here before

time only makes it strong in the seconds in the song that's why it hurts when something's wrong hope i never wait too long never right, never wrong

you already know
i feel like we've been here before

the place that we already know
i feel like we've been here before
i feel like we've been here before
