Written by Christine McVie (of Fleetwood Mac), and released on their Bare Trees album, March 1972 Why not lie here

in-a my arms
and just listen to the night.
You must know that you have certain charms,
and I feel,
and I feel the time is right.

Spare me a little,
spare me a little,
spare me a little of your love.

Spare me a little,
spare me a little,
spare me a little of your love.

And I know that I feel much more
in-a

every single way, [ended / and it's ?] not the same as before, it gets
stronger [stronger],
stronger every day.

Spare me a little,
spare me a little,
spare me a little of your love.

Spare me a little,
spare me a little,
spare me a little of your love.

Now I know how the sun must feel
every time it shines,
and I know that this is real and I want you to be mine.
So, spare me a little,
spare me a little,
spare me a little of your love.
Spare me a little,
spare me a little,

spare me a little of your love.
Come on, spare me a little,
spare me a little,
spare me a little of your love.
One more time,
spare me a little,
spare me a little,
spare me a little of your love.
