Sometimes I think of me and you And every now and then I think we'll never make it through
We go through some crazy times and there are times
I wonder if I'll keep loving you but I always do

Seems that love always finds a reason to keep me here
Believin' when I feel our love is slipping away Seems that love always finds a reason to make me stay
And even through the darkest night, the feeling survives
Seems that I can just look at you and I find the reason in your eyes
Your eyes

I know sometimes you wish that you were free
I know sometimes you wonder what you're doing here with me
But something keeps you by my side, through everything Through all the times we disagree, you keep loving me

Seems that love always finds a reason to keep me here
Believin' when we feel our love is slipping away
And it seems that love always finds a reason to make me stay
And even through the darkest night, the feeling
survives
And you know when you look at me, you'll find the reason in my eyes
In my eyes, don't let it slip away

Love always finds a reason to keep us here
Believin' when we feel our love is slipping away
Don't you know that love always finds a reason to make us stay
And even through the darkest night, the feeling
survives
Seems that I can just look at you and I find the reason Baby, I found the reason in your eyes, your eyes.
