(chorus) Don't fool yourself by thinking you're shrewd perpetrating with false disguise First veer humble then you'll become truly wise Don't fool yourself V1: I'm oozing profusely out of the melancholic frames and giving rise to feedback as they're echoing their joyous strains With knife I cut malevolence as the anon scenes grew tense like the simile nail-head appearance of the excrecence Mankind's hostility lacks appeal so I give birth to advice to pronounce that your love mst be real Christ sits at right hand to facilitate creations with philosophic and amorous associations I want to know all the total souls by algorithm compriiser deem the repetitive calculations used to find the greatest common divisor. (chorus) V2: The end times flatten the tenements but sparing the alicyclics to maintain The compounds with carbon atoms in any type of closed chain Some want to prevail without celestial help for grim But to ask Christ for benefits you first gotta believe in him In the world I'd like to abate the Bling-Bling mental state with stints of branched-chain fatty amine of high molecular weight And the protection of right living on the exterior of my chest plate I defeat the demonics with signs of "Come Test It" As I manifest the gospel to transform the agrestic
