

Twarres

"Standing still"

Visit "Standing still" on MotoLyrics.com

Walking around at the place, there where you lost sight of your life

Trees were green, sky was blue and the train was yellow and hard

Did the birds stop singing for a while, did they see you at all

Did the worlds heart miss a beat

Standing still for a while, try to follow the train of your thoughts

Questions rise in my mind, I'll just let them take their course

If the birds stopped singing for a while, if they had a story to tell

Then my heart would miss a beat

When you closed your eyes, did you know what was wrong

If you could open your eyes again, would you be more strong

I'll move on, in a while but for now I'm standing here
Not a word through the years, but you meant so much to me

I still have so many things to ask to you, but you only said good luck girl, and goodbye

When you closed your eyes, did you know what was
wrong

If you could open your eyes again, would you be more
strong

Visit Twarres page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.