

Lost On Liftoff

"40 Miles"

Visit "40 Miles" on MotoLyrics.com

40 miles to go
And there is no summer
Could you take me home?
Could you be yourself?
And the way you are
Made to feel unwanted
And heal too slow
I can feel the sway
Beneath my feet as we go
Can't amputate it
Need to explore
Does anyone believe you were low?
40 miles to go
Could you take me home?

Is there anyone that won't believe
Two collide and two can breathe
Anything to be alone
Anywhere you want to go
Finally begin to see
But lose the light in front of me
Find the days
The hours to reform

40 miles to go
And there are no reasons
If it isn't fair
I could be myself for you
But I did not care
This is my new season
And you are not there
If I could only feel like I belong
40 miles to go
Could you take me home?

Is there anyone that won't believe
Two collide and two can breathe
Anything to be alone
Anywhere you want to go
Finally begin to see
But lose the light in front of me

Find the days
The hours to reform

Forty miles to go
You were walking wounded
Wouldn't take me long
To find my way again
Into your arms again
40 miles to go
Could you take me home?

Is there anyone that won't believe
Two collide and two can breathe
Anything to be alone
Anywhere you want to go
Finally begin to see
But lose the light in front of me
Find the days
The hours to...
Find the days
The hours to...
Find the days
The hours to...
Find the days
The hours to reform.

Visit Lost On Liff page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.