Words are flying everywhere
Feelings hurt I just don't care
Wonder how things got to be
This hard and lonely
Maybe we should start again
'Cause apologies don't mean a thing
Those words are empty
Forget about everything

Should have seen it a mile away
But couldn't think of a thing to say to you
Nothing left to offer
Nothing left to do

I know I always let you down
A force of habit
I'm not too proud
I would try to compromise
With you this last time

One more time
To get it right
But you have to want it too
You have to want it

Should have seen it a mile away
But couldn't think of a thing to say to you
Nothing left for me to do
Falling over everything
Walking out on you

Mistakes we knew we had to make
No truer test of what it takes
To get through
I think I can remember

This last time
To get it right
I know you
You have to want it

Should have seen it a mile away
But couldn't think of a thing to say to you
Falling over everything
Walking out on you

Should have seen it a mile away
Holding on to you
To you
Holding on to you
To you.
