I lost my soul today along the river's edge.
I gave it all away I won't see it back again.
She says I've lost all feeling;
Oh what's a man supposed to do?

But it's sun down, blood horizon,
Now it feels alright.
No one fears the darkness
Down in the valley tonight.

She hides her diamonds in her secret places drawer,
In case our livelihood should fall right through the floor.
But in our darkest season,
We had some good times even then.

Now it's sun down, blood horizon,
Now it feels alright.
No one fears the darkness
Down in the valley tonight.

I watch them come and go, I'll watch them go again.
The door is opening now so tonight I'm busting in.
We've all got our reasons,
Mine's a chance at breaking even now.

'Cause it's sun down, blood horizon,
Now it feels alright.
No one fears the darkness
Down in the valley tonight.
