

Lost Trailers, The "Postcard Home"

Visit "Postcard Home" on MotoLyrics.com

I needed time today, and I needed space,
and I found it all on these barren waves.
I could have called you to say I was gone,
but I never felt like I needed to.

I needed peace today, and I needed space,
and I felt my time slip into the glaze,
I reached behind me to grasp where I've gone,
and I found that you were there all along.

I don't leave cause I don't need you, I leave because I
do,
and everyday that I'm away keeps me coming back to
you.
I'm not asking you to sympathize, just know that I
wander....
Yes, I roam sometimes.

I needed faith today to run by my side,
to stay through the wake when two lives collide,
and two yellowed sentiments await my return,
One tear stained postcard and love I don't deserve.

I don't leave cause I don't need you, I leave because I
do,
and everyday that I'm away keeps me coming back to
you.
I'm not asking you to sympathize, just know that I
wander....
Yes, I roam sometimes.

I needed you today, I called out your name,
but you were not there you were far away.
You were not there, you were far away.
Someday you won't be so far away.

Visit Lost Trailers, The page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.