There's a light out in the distance
Shining out for me
Perhaps now I may find solace
And all this was meant to be

I am lost
That may never change
I might someday forgive myself
From that which I am chained
I am lost
And I may not be found
Let what I have left behind
Stay buried in the ground

The light coming closer
Almost near enough to touch
Though I may be bleeding
It's not yet been too much

I am lost
That may never change
I might someday forgive myself
From that which I am chained
I am lost
But finally heading back
Miles to go before I rest
And the sky is turning black
