You you look to the stars for answers

Your face glowing in blue

You smile at the thought that there's something out there

Suddenly a smile turns to a stare

A million tiny light bulbs shining

Through celluloid across the country

Little green men

Eyes shielded with a shaky hand

The women screaming

And the children gather and wonder

Who's there

Who's there

Fond of a night out in California

It's late an interruption in space

You smile could there be someone out there

Suddenly the smile has been erased

The radio crackled voices

With obvious and used excuses

Blue gas burning above

Flicks and cartoons bumper stickers

In preparation for tomorrow

And the children gather and wonder

Chorus

A million tiny bulbs exploding

Out the theatre doors they're screaming

Ushers pick up treasures

Little nervous mens co-ordinance point at the moon

And the children gather and wonder

Chorus

Chorus
