Everything has changed
For the worse
And I can't seem to shake this evil curse
It Seems to follow me
And resides with pain and failure
Deep inside my soul
It's cold
What can I do

When all those inner demons start to burn
And will I start to dread
Or begin to fall behind

Breathe in, breathe out
Survive
I felt condemned to this
And I'm not going back again
Start to begin
Breathe in, Breathe out
Survive
Keep my head up on the water
Get my feet back on the sand
Because tomorrow might be all I get

All the smiles we waste
The second time is always said to be much better than the first
So why does it hurt?
Could it be our smiles were nothing but wrinkles on our face
It's such a waste

When Feelings were meant to be told Stand out with the cold and the truth stands aside

Breathe in, breathe out
Survive
I felt condemned to this
And I'm not going back again
Start to begin

Breathe in, Breathe out
Survive
Keep my head up on the water
Get my feet back on the sand
Because tomorrow might be all I get

Flag down, betrayed for what I gave
I should have left it alone
Just leave, and wipe the burn from my eyes
Flag down, betrayed for what I gave
I should have left it alone
Just leave, and wipe the burn from my eyes

Breathe in, breathe out
Survive
Start to begin
Reset
