"Honey"

We can't see what we don't believe we can't dream of reality with our heads in the clouds and our hands in the air we try to catch something but nothing is there

we fall down before we start we only want to play our part Yeah our minds are a wash with all this talk
Am I making sense?

Tell me honey can we ever find the truth?
tell me honey will we ever see one view?
I can't connect if I can't relate to you and we can't accept what we do not get to choose tell me honey, what is it we do?
remind me honey, what did we just lose?

We push the thoughts and words come out they could be lies, they could be doubt but throw enough money at it's feet and all the lies become perfectly sweet

You know I've tried to understand
I know you've tried to hold my hand But try as I will I can not see
am I making sense?

Tell me honey can we ever find the truth?
tell me honey will we ever see one view?
I can't connect if I can't relate to you
and we can't accept what we do not get to choose
tell me honey, what is it we do?
remind me honey, what did we just lose?
