"Freedom At Last"

In the face of desperation, the scattered voices of many are heard by none And we have long since passed the point when something must be done So feel the hope within this movement, now feel your own strength
There is motivation in urgency, the power of change to break traditions chains
To put past what brings us pain, to no longer feel the shame
The battle has begun, the battle lines been drawn Anarchy and peace is what we want, so who's side are you on?
In every city of every country the voiceless few are so many, and just like you and me They are waiting to demand a peace, a movement rising ,so feel the hope within this movement Feel your own strength!
There is motivation in urgency, the power of change to
break traditions chains
To put past what brings us pain, to no longer feel the
shame
The battle has begun, the battle lines been drawn Anarchy and peace is what we want, so who's side are
you on?
There's a statement made in everything you do so never dismiss the power for change within you It cannot be stopped by guns if we stand true. Their guns are useless. Our weapon is truth.
We are the "system", the system is just people, from governments to corporations It still comes down to individuals. There is no system without participation,
If You change within, then we win. That is my solution, that's the revolution.
No bloody confrontations, just humanity's realization
That the truth behind the evils of the system
That we created them so we may therefore reject them.
