Wait For something more
Wait You show
I follow

The beacon is calling me the light that never dies reflections thrown above the sea casts shadows in the sky

Standing right in front of you
Is where I need to be Reliving this is something new And something finally

Take the deep end
And swim 'til you can stand
Cause it will make a difference in the end

Trip the shudder
And keep the picture close Save it until you need it the most

(I'm coming home)
I'm coming home
