Darling, you must be sleeping
The masses are weeping
For you to open up your eyes
Open up your eyes, my darling
Why won't you wake up?

Where is your mind?
Relax and rub the temple
Scared of what I'll find
This dream is elemental

Breathing in
I want the flow of oxygen
Into in your lungs and this world
This world is left so frozen
Chest raising the loss of air
Body quaking
Just strap her down and touch her hair

Darling, you must be sleeping
The masses are weeping
For you to open up your eyes
Open up your eyes, my darling
Why won't you wake up?

I can't keep believing
That this is a dream
The state of illusion
Is haunting my sleep
I can't keep believing
It's all a dream
The thought of me losing you
Is making me weak
