Secluded in the sheets
We lay waiting for someone to lift us up
Your bones and your skin
Are entranced by an ever heightening love
We just lay so involved

We will never ever leave this place
At least not if it's up to me

Sedated in this silk
Astray from someones idea of whats right
To remain here is all that we want
You're still laying in my arms
We just lay so involved
Wake us up

We will never ever leave this place
At least not if it's up to me
This is where we have chose to stay
To lay our bones

Remain entwined
Move away from the light
We will never leave this place
Oh no we won't
Trust me I've always known

We will never ever leave this place
At least not if it's up to me
This is where we have chose to stay
To lay our bones
