I wish I was tough, but it takes just one laugh from you and I crave your embrace it's cliché I know but I'm feeling so low "cos" I'm missing the smile on your face there's the void you could leave but I really have no choice but to dream and think of every fucking moment you spent here

spent with me

Don't play, baby!

I didn't want to but it's you I'd love to and I wish I could say it's your fault an ant on the phone now you know my weak clone who is waiting to answer your call so the morning makes me lonely and you're always on my mind and I'm lost girl, you make me feel so insecure: I said stop you said go

So please, don't play no games with me!
