your words have me on my knees they cut so close, would you believe? some prose from me to you so awakened to melody when not all, but most my dreams have started to come to bloom, so so what's that saying for you, you, you? yeah even though it's a sacrifice and common sense is feeding a lie so damn convincing well i still know what's good and right a place and time to reflect it's when faith is all that's left the strength arose from you so spurred on by words from friends i find myself in healing hands three words ring out so true than than a thousand from you, you, you, yeah given another chance

i don't want your pain anyway
given another chance
i don't want your pain anymore all that i hope is that you find reasons, release identified
