

Lyndsay Diaries, The "Josephine"

Visit "Josephine" on MotoLyrics.com

Josephine you're running with the stream and falling through the cracks
Can't you just hear them talking in the background?
In the background of your mind, they speak to you

And did you hear the song of the star-crossed lovers?
It occurred in a valley far, far away
The mountains, they kiss the sky
The clouds rain down the stars on them
The stars rain down on them.

Josephine, do you know what you mean?
Josephine, do you know what you mean to me?

If I whisper secrets to the stars,
think we would understand who we are?
Who we really are?
We'll kiss the sky, hold on only to the moon
and dance in the light it kindly provides us

If I was to die tonight, would we meet in the heavens?
If I was to die tonight, would I ever see you again?
Would I see you ever again?

Josephine, do you know what you mean?
Josephine, do you know you mean everything to me?

Josephine, do you know what you mean?
Josephine, do you know you mean everything to me?
And Josephine..
And Josephine, you mean to me, the world

Visit Lyndsay Diaries, The page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.