Hello morning, what you got for me today?
My heart is breaking
Want to spread my wings and fly away

Everybody's got somewhere to go
They're knocking on my window
Everybody's got their place in line
And the coffee's dark as my dreams last night
I need some of your sweet sunshine

Hello morning, have mercy on me, please
My heart is breaking just give me a chance to breathe
The tears are rolling and it's getting hard to see
So hello morning, just break it, break it to me gently

Clock alarm rings lazy move my bones and wash my face
A new day dawning
And dreams are made with every step you take

Everybody wants to get away and sail into the sunset
Everybody lives with some regret
You get pulled down by the weight, we're all slaves anyway
And I can sleep when I'm dead

Hello morning, have mercy on me, please
My heart is breaking just give me a chance to breathe
The tears are rolling and it's getting hard to see
So hello morning, just break it, break it to me gently

My world may be upside down
But there's not time to waste right now
I've waited for her to come around
I've spent a week in bed, I've lost my head

Hello morning, have mercy on me, please
My heart is breaking just give me a chance to breathe
The tears are rolling and it's getting hard to see
So hello morning, just break it, break it to me gently
