leave him, he's not worth the pain, he's not worth it at all. maybe he just made mistakes, i know he's not so serious. ask yourself 'am I improving? the memories are all so numb. it's just what he wants, he doesn't see how beautiful you are. i say it from the heart, when will you see that i need you. please do stop and think about, that you're better off with me. look around, do you see him? when problems come he seems to disappear. you said he's starting to understand, but I think he doesn't have a brain. he's the guy who loves to fuck around. the kind that breaks the heart of girls like you, please do stop and think about, you're better off with a loser I
