the days has ended and so has life speak of things that don't make sense the crashing wind that blinds my eyes let me see you one more time breathe through the glass as you drink what weakens you write down every heart-felt moment teach me how to smile i will take my chances hit the walls i am blind can i ask you to hold me? just one time i am waiting for someone ( i said nothing ) wake me up when you're gone ( i said nothing ) promise i wont say a word the letter's torn but i keep it in just like anger just like you the crashing winds the burning eyes let me see you one mor
