Sitting in your rocket chair, see the grass how nice it grows with a highspeed camera on a highspeed TV Show switching channels is the only thing you do tried to change it but you can't my friend, reality is only second hand

So welcome to this brand new world, imagination starts to swirl you better try to bring it down

Won't you stay a little while,
stay a little time,
stay just a little while

Can you see the promised land, would you jump on every train grab for every handle staring at the telly screen but some things you can't swallow "cause your pride is in your way thry to sooth it but you can't my friend, try to rearrange but it's the end

So welcome to this brand new world,
imagination starts to swirl you better try to bing it down

Won't you stay a little while,
stay a little time,
