I have lived for many thousand years
I've learned too many things that even you
Don't know
We enjoy the magic of the life
That endless power of feeling it all alive

But one day, don't know how
We started to notice
We were disappearing
And no one really gave a damn for us

Please, stop stop killing
Supposedly you are so smart
The animal that's wise
Please, stop stop destroying
When will you realize
Killing it all, you kill your heart

Who ever gave you the power to rule?
To feel the only species to take all control

Don't you see? We share the same role
We are here to learn, we are here to grow
And evolve

But one day you will ask
If all the lost was worth
To feel you're full of things
And never care for the earth and us

Please, stop stop killing
Supposedly you are so smart
The animal that's wise
Please, stop stop destroying
When will you realize
Killing it all, you kill your heart

Don't cry for me, please fight for me
I wish you could understand what I feel
Don't cry for me, please fight for me
To never let it happen this again
