I walked through this place, although it wasn't really there
And when I reached the other side, thought I didn't really care
I moved round a bit, and started seeing people And the people that I met, oh were all covered in treacle

Everyone was laughing, everyone except for poor old me
So I tried to entertain them, oh but they were hard to please As time went by, oh backwards i walked, backwards I talked, and backwards I slept
