I thought that I was free to do what I pleased
But I was wrong, I found out nothing comes for free Take what you want, that's what the whole world tells me
But what they don't say is that you give up everything to be

And one mistake can lead you to another heart-break and you're going through

Life, life, life

Say what you want, I swear that I am listening Tell me when it's my turn and I will put your soul at ease
Do you ever think you're not the only one who feels Can you imagine that there is a way for you to heal

Remember me, and how I told you it is here that I would be, but it's your

Life, life, life

Here we go here we go again,
Now we run now we run again
Here we go here we go again,
It's all a part of this

Life, life, life
