The sun brings its haze
The clutter of days
You can't find your dawn
So stuck in your ways
But all you can say is
"The moment has passed now but where has it gone?"

You wake up, only to find
There was no peace of mind in your sleep
You wake up, the dreams that were there are
The memories you can't seem to keep

Another day, you walk this spinning wheel
Forgetting how to feel
And how long since it took your breath away
Don't spend another minute trying to Find out where the moments have gone

You wake up, only to find
There was no peace of mind in your sleep
You wake up, the dreams that were there are
The memories you can't seem to keep

So lost in this place
The lines on your face
Were built by your mind

All of this time
When does love decide
Now to shake you up, wake you up?

You wake up, only to find
There was no peace of mind in your sleep
You wake up, the dreams that were there are
The memories you can't seem to keep
