This plane can't fly on just one engine this heart can't beat without affection I'm not a choice I'm a natural direction
This house can stand just fine on it own This hand's gonna rule without a throne
I'm not the mother, I'm the queen of invention

I'm gonna make you see the difference between just quitting and survival
I've got a voice and I've made a choice between heartbreak and revival
I know you hate how i make everything look easy to do But it's my pleasure doing everything better without you
Cause this one works better than two

Oh romantics are a dying breed
And this romance is dead to me So I'm gonna bury your love six feet under They say that one's a lonely number but lightning's struck and I found my thunder

There's another shot of you that you're about to discover

I'm gonna make you see the difference between
just quitting and survival
I've got a voice and I've made a choice between
heartbreak and revival
I know you hate how i make everything look easy to do
But it's my pleasure doing everything better without
you Cause this one works better than

Two wrongs don't make a right when one leaves the other behind
And I've found you only regret when you stay too long that you will forget

I'm gonna make you see the difference between
just quitting and survival

I've got a voice and I've made a choice between
heartbreak and revival
I know you hate how i make everything look easy to do
But it's my pleasure doing everything better without
you
Oh it's my pleasure doing everything better without you Cause this one works better than two
