"Your Son"

It was you saw me first
Set me free in this world
Made me discover things in life for the first time

Give me strength, give me love
You're my angel from above
It was hard to accept that you're not here anymore

But I'll always be your son
And when the world begins to fall
You're the air inside my lungs
That keeps me going, going, going on

Together we were one
But the heart of it is gone
Now I have to stand along for the first time

But I'll always be your son
And when the world begins to fall
You're the air inside my lungs
That keeps me going, going, going

But I'll always be your son
And when the world begins to fall
You're the air inside my lungs
That keeps me going, going, going on

It was you saw me first
Set me free in this world
I will discover things in life for the first time
