

Margarets, The

"Slowly"

Visit "Slowly" on MotoLyrics.com

Do we know exactly what murder is?

Day by day I see children in the playground
Do their parents know what's going on out there?
Day by day what kinda games do they play
Don't you wonder why that little one never smiles?

Day by day the school is cruel, the weekend's lonely
Nights awake he prays for better times
Day by day it's hard to talk about these things
Especially when you got no one

We accept every crime we cannot see
If it can't be proven surely
Everything's alright

Do they know exactly what murder is?
Do they know exactly what it is?
Do they know no no no no no
Do they know exactly what muder is?

The years go on by, you die a little day by day
No one taught you how to love yourself
The years go on by, slowly and unnoticed
The killings will go on and on

We accept every crime we cannot see
If it can't be proven surely
Everything's alright, alright

Do they know exactly what murder is?
Do they know exactly what it is?
Do they know no no no no no
Do they know exactly what muder is?

Visit Margarets, The page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.