Sit down and listen
I've got a lot I will ask you
Is your life worth livin'
I've got a resolution for you
With my head tilted back I say to you:

When no one comes to save you
Well maybe then you'll see I'm right
When no ones left to claim you
I'm not the one to say you're mine

That's how you left it
Were locked and loaded
You know you love it
If I'm your nightmare
Then when's the morning
Its not coming

Well I would love to break you down but its all I can take not to lose myself
Well I would love to break you down
But its not my fault you're an easy target

Its not the question that I'm askin' that makes your hands shake
It's what you did
So breathe in let it go
Save your words for the next one
Its all been said

Write this down
All together now
Were gonna break you down
