Some are winners some are losers and some are fighters till the day they die some try to make a living some others always give in many are stopped before they get to try and many others are forced to leave their countries they lose their families they lose sleep as soon as they are gone they are forgotten but you see their tears crash on the beach you can see their tears crash on the beach you can see their tears crash on... maybe a winner maybe a loser but I'm a fighter till the day I die it took a lifetime to cross the breadline to be a victim of accusing eyes and many others are forced to leave their countries they lose their families they lose sleep as soon as they are gone they're forgotten but you see their tears crash on the beach you can see their tears crash on the beach you can see their tears crash on.....
