"the journey"

Time waits for no one, sure as the tide pulls the ocean

Sure as the path that's been chosen, cannot be changed

I my life's destination, I searched for the explanation

For some kind of reason, for my sorrow and pain

But in my isolation I learned to listen

To be thankful for the love that I'd been given

This is my Journey, Journey through life

With every twist and turn I've laughed and cried

As the road unwinds

This is my journey, and I've learned to fight

To make strong enough, to lift me up,

To bring my dreams alive

In desperation, I swore that never again

Would I hear all the laughter of my friends and my family

A million tears that I'd cried then began to dry

And in the silence of the night time, I came to realise

A sweet inspiration filled my horizon

Gave me the heart to go on and never would give in

This is my Journey, Journey through life

With every twist and turn I've laughed and cried

As the road unwinds

This is my journey, and I've learned to fight

To make strong enough, to lift me up,

To bring my dreams alive

I'm going to love each moment, of every day and every night

I'll look back to the past with the sweetest smile

For now I realise, I've been given the key to life

I've been kissed by the angel by my side
