

Nixons

"At the Sun"

Visit "At the Sun" on MotoLyrics.com

You walk right through with blood on your hands
As if I couldn't see it dripping
You change with the breeze when you feel a chill
How far away are you slipping
I know you just a little bit, I know you

And I couldn't see it coming, but I see that your gone
And I couldn't break the darkness
Even staring at the sun

You walk with angels until you need to sin
You only think about me never
You keep your promise maybe for a day
You swore it only would get better
I know you just a little bit, I know you

And I couldn't see it coming, but I see that your gone
And I couldn't break the darkness
Even staring at the sun

You walk right through with blood upon your hands
As if I couldn't see it dripping
Keep your promise maybe for a day
You only think about me never...never
I know you just a little bit
I see you just a little, I know you

And I couldn't see it coming, but I see that your gone
And I couldn't break the darkness
Even staring at the sun

Walk right through with blood upon your hands
And I know you, I know you
I couldn't break the darkness
Even staring at the sun

Visit Nixons page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.