"Calm desolate eyes
Solemnly awaken
Swelling into
The sound of your voice
Carving through the night air
As I long for you and I

May's warm sky
Closing all around us
As the days bleed to nights
May's warm walls
Pulsing dreams that blow through our hearts

You alone have colored my life
High above the violet sky
You are the one I adore

Stark calloused words whistle through the oak as I long for your touch
A dozen white knives singing in my gut
as I feel you come alive

May's warm sky
Closing all around us
As the days bleed to nights
May's warm walls
Pulsing dreams that blow through our hearts

You alone have colored my life
High above the violet sky
You are the one

I lay my hands down
Hands down at your feet
Oh I lay my hands down now

You alone have colored my life
High above the violet sky
You alone have colored my life

You alone have colored my life"
